“ Brenda, I have so many memories of your dad from when we were younger. The one that sticks in my head to this day is when you and I were walking from your aunt Mae's house and your dad was yelling at me and you for something but playing with us like always. He grabbed me and bite my head and stared laughing and we both try to do the same back to him but of course we couldn't. Lots a good memories. Hold on to all your memories and share with Joe and your dad will always be close by.love your friend always Tracy
